

KIDSUPER
(Colm Dillane)
USA

kidsuper.com
@kidsuper

“I think that consumers are going to demand responsibly made fashion, but most people are so uninformed about what really goes into making things. Transparency is also going to be a requirement.”

“It is important to empower and highlight makers and sewers, while giving access, opportunity and knowledge to young people so they can remake and reuse.”

“WE ALL WANT TO BEHAVE IN A RESPECTFUL WAY TOWARDS THE ENVIRONMENT, BUT IT'S HARD TO KNOW WHAT EXACT ACTIONS TO TAKE. I THINK THE FACTORY CONCEPT THAT I CREATED – WHERE PEOPLE CAN COME AND REMAKE AND REWORK CLOTHING – IS THE FUTURE OF SUSTAINABLE FASHION.”