

WWD

Fashion. Beauty. Business.

Back in Manhattan

Alia has opened an art-filled flagship in New York's SoHo, three decades after closing its store there.

Page 3

Dream Realized?

American Dream CEO Don Ghermesian reveals new luxury tenants and says the megamall's traffic is growing.

Page 10

Couture Preview

The couture shows begin Monday and designer sketches hint at what lies in store, plus a look at auctions.

Pages 10 to 23

Rain Check

Kim Jones presented his fall 2023 menswear collection for Dior against giant screens showing Robert Pattinson and Gwendoline Christie performing T.S. Eliot's poem "The Waste Land." But there was nothing bleak about this sophisticated lineup, which blended seafaring references with nods to archival women's designs by Yves Saint Laurent. For more on Paris men's, see pages 4 to 14.

PHOTOGRAPHY: KLEA DABROWSKI

